

My own seaworthy ship: a tank with eyes to leap horizons, pierce the dark and relay images Athena couldn't conjure up.
My crew is trained but none is battle wise like those Odysseus commanded once.
I make myself no such comparison, no hero. No enchanted sojourns, nymphs or ogres-- ah well, maybe counting colonels--

My army unit got called up and here I am, late of a college classroom where I taught the classics: Homer, Virgil, Dante, themselves no strangers to the Fates and war.
And like all men who fight on foreign ground,
I wonder when I'll see my wife and home.
Professional professor, weekend soldier eight years-- no incongruity in that--

If one exists, it's in the harpist there on my right flank, the best damn driver here.
A tank-jock's normally a tougher cut than he who plays as if retained from birth to grace Hellenic halls and royal feasts with Menelaus praising his sweet hands-- those proven hands that bully steel and heat, controlling his big thunderbitch with class.
